Editor's NOTES

JULY 2026

July is here and summer is in full swing across Chester, Wrexham, Flintshire and North Wales! With school holidays underway and sunny days ahead, it's the perfect time to enjoy everything our wonderful local area has to offer.

In this month's edition of Inside Magazines, we've packed the pages with ideas for family days out, summer events, outdoor adventures, tasty treats and much more. From local festivals and live music to holiday inspiration and community highlights, there's something for everyone to enjoy.

As always, we're proud to continue supporting local independent businesses that help our communities thrive. Shopping local, using local services and supporting local events makes a real difference, and we're grateful to all of the businesses who advertise with us each month and help keep Inside Magazines at the heart of the community.

Whether you're planning a summer break visiting the beautiful Algarve, enjoying days out closer to home or simply soaking up the sunshine, you'll find plenty of inspiration and trusted local services throughout this issue.

A big thank you, as always, to our readers, advertisers and distributors for your continued support. It's wonderful to see the magazines growing month after month and reaching more homes and businesses across the region.

We hope you enjoy the July edition and wish you a fantastic month ahead.

Thank you for supporting local ♥

Crispy salmon salad

A bright, crisp veg-packed salad with salmon that makes a lovely light summer supper when you have friends over.

Ingredients

- 1 fennel bulb, tough outer layer removed, thinly sliced
 - 8 asparagus spears, trimmed of woody ends and finely shaved with a vegetable peeler or mandoline
 - 8 radishes, thinly sliced
 - 4 salmon fillets, skin on, about 180g/6oz each
 - 30g/1oz plain flour, for dusting
 - 1 tbsp olive oil
 - 250g/9oz Tenderstem broccoli
 - 250g/9oz fine green beans, trimmed
 - 1 tbsp extra virgin olive oil
 - 200g/7oz frozen peas
- salt and freshly ground black pepper

For the dressing

- 4 tbsp extra virgin olive oil
- 1 tsp Dijon mustard
- 1 lemon, juice only
- 2 tbsp roughly chopped dill

Method

Step 1 Put the fennel, asparagus and radishes into a bowl of cold water with a handful of ice added and leave to crisp up for 10 minutes or so.

Step 2 Season each salmon fillet with salt and pepper and dust both sides with flour. Heat the olive oil in a large non-stick frying pan over a medium-high heat. Place the salmon skin-side down in the pan and hold down with a spatula for 30 seconds or so. Cook, without moving, for 7-8 minutes.

Step 3 Meanwhile, put the broccoli and beans into a sauté pan with 200ml/7fl oz of cold water and extra virgin oil. Season well with salt and pepper. Bring to the boil and cook over a medium heat, moving the veg around so it cooks evenly. When the liquid has almost all evaporated, add the frozen peas. Once the peas are cooked, remove from the heat and drain off any excess water.

Step 4 When you can see that the skin on the fish is crisp, flip the salmon fillets over and cook for 2 minutes on the other side. Remove from the heat and leave to rest while you make the dressing.

Step 5 Whisk the dressing ingredients together in a bowl and pour over the warm veg in the pan.

Step 6 Drain the fennel, asparagus and radishes and add to them the pan. Toss to mix and season with salt and pepper to taste.

Step 7 Divide the warm salad between serving plates and top each portion with a salmon fillet, crisped skin side up, to serve.

Discover THE ALGARVE

The Algarve's sunny shores offer perfect escapes for all tastes. Portugal's most southerly region offers historical attractions in former Moorish capital Silves and fascinating Faro, fabulous beaches from Praia da Luz to Armacao de Pera and miles of limestone caves and grottoes, cliffs and bays along its rugged coastline.

Albufeira

Hugging the coast of Portugal's southern Algarve region, Albufeira pairs neon and noise with pretty remnants of the past: pleasant squares, 18th-century churches, the ancient remains of a Moorish castle, and tiled pedestrian lanes winding through the white-washed old town. The city's span of beaches brings the drama and pulls in visitors, with golden sand, rugged cliffs, and the bright teals and blues of the Atlantic. Along with Algarve coastal hot spots, these are some of the best beaches in Europe.

Lagos

There is rich and beautiful history within Lagos' 14th century walls, from its fortress to picturesque churches like mediaeval São João Hermitage and the 17th-century São Sebastião. But that's all appetiser. People come here for a main-course coastal buffet featuring more than a half-dozen beautiful beaches. Quiet sandy coves are sandwiched between dramatic cliffs. The sandy 2.5-mile stretch of Meia Praia caters to every water sport imaginable.

Vilamoura

The Vilamoura area offers a fabulous diversity of experiences, from quiet pine forest ambles and Atlantic beaches, to a casino, shooting club, riding school and a choice of nightclubs. The main attractions are the environmentally-conscious planned development's four golf courses and Polvo Watersports Algarve water park. The area's past is brought to the forefront with a preserved Roman site and the Museum of Cerro da Vila. Rent a car to make the most of Vilamoura and the surrounding Algarve region.

Faro

Faro is the best-known city in Portugal's deservedly famous Algarve region. There's an archaeological museum and a "Bishops' Palace," a Renaissance cathedral that was heavily bombed during World War II, but later rebuilt. Nearby in Estoi are Roman ruins, and Albufeira, also nearby, is a formerly quaint fishing village influenced by the Moors in the 8th century. It's situated in a cliffside location, and has become famous for its beaches (there are 20) and nightlife.

Alvor

This former fishing village on Portugal's southern coast has become a popular resort. Spend a day on Alvor's main beach, or find one of the smaller, secluded coves along the coastline. In the evening, stroll through the town's narrow cobblestone streets, dine on fresh local seafood, and enjoy live music at one of the many lively bars.

Carvoeiro

Formerly a fishing village, Carvoeiro is flanked on either side by the sandstone sea cliffs characteristic of southern Portugal. The town's horseshoe-shaped bay is hailed as one of the Algarve's best beaches, with golden sand backed by whitewashed Mediterranean houses.

Tavira

The fishing town of Tavira combines two Mediterranean staples: Moorish architecture and a golden beach. Here, a labyrinth of cobbled streets winds past houses tiled in the traditional Portuguese style, and the pace of life flows as gently as the Gilão River.

Praia da Luz

Once a sleepy fishing village, Luz has largely hung up its nets with the beach being the biggest earner these days. Since the 1980s the resort has expanded rapidly around the sandy beach which is now backed by rows of whitewashed apartments and villas, and a palm-lined promenade. It has to be said that despite all the development Praia da Luz still retains plenty of charm.

Song Lyrics Quiz

Name the song and the artists who made the song famous.

1: "I got my first real six string.
Bought it at the 5 and dime."

2: "It's 9 o'clock on a Saturday, the regular crowd shuffles in."

3: "Hello darkness my old friend, I've come to talk with you again."

4: "Sitting in the morning sun, I'll be sitting when the evening comes."

5: "Young teacher,
the subject of schoolgirl fantasy."

6: "The sirens are screaming and the fires are howling way down in the valley tonight."

7: "I work all night, I work all day to pay the bills I have to pay. Ain't it sad."

8: "Is this the real life, or is this just fantasy."

9: "Turn around. Every now and then I get a little bit lonely."

10: "And he drove the fastest milk cart in the West."

11: "People try to put us down, just because we get around."

12: "On a dark desert highway, cool wind in my hair."

13: "I've got sunshine on a cloudy day."

14: "All the leaves are brown and the sky is grey."

15: "Start spreading the news,
I'm leaving today."

16: "There was a lot of rocking going on that night.
Cruising time for the young bright lights."

SUMMER FASHION

FROM Biarritz beachcore to bold colour palettes and summer tailoring, we explore the summer 2026 trends you need to know.

Summer Tuxedo

A minimalist approach to black tie (left). Slip into an oversized shirt, add a belt-slash-cumberband and finish with pointed-toe pumps.

Capri pants

The capri has legs for another summer (right). A black pair with shirting is a sublime formula, but you can also introduce a print (polka dots, gingham or a blurred floral).

Books as looks

Allow your beach read of choice to inspire your wardrobe (far right). Whether you're drawn to the gothic typeface of Lydia Pang's 'Eat Bitter', "a story about guts, and food," or the baddie-approved nail art of 'Hello, Limerence'

TRENDS FOR 2026

Sun-bleached denim

Let your denim become sun-faded (top, left). You can also weave icy barrel-leg jeans into your hot-weather wardrobe, contrasting its tint with a white vest top and black leather slides.

Checkmate

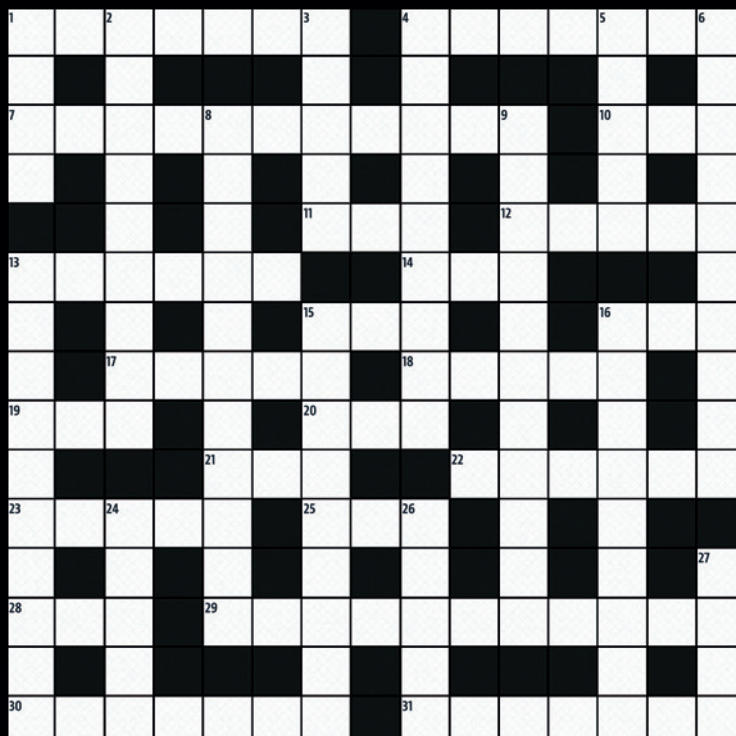

Carey Mulligan's Met Gala gown (an über-chic column design courtesy of Prada) sealed the hit print of summer: Early adopters should look to pretty pastel versions à la Prada and Emilia Wickstead for garden parties, events and all in between (top, centre).

Jewel tones

A jewel tone might not have the punch of a primary shade, but precious-stone colours (from peridot to amethyst) have made their presence felt on the A-list (top, right). Lend some dazzle to your look.

The 2026 Honda Civic

WHEN you're caught up in the whirlwind of family life, it pays to keep things simple – and that's something the Honda Civic does very well indeed.

The latest Civic has just one engine option, one bodystyle (a five-door hatchback) and three trim levels to choose from. That might sound rather restrictive, but what you do get covers all the family car bases very well.

Performance & drive

As part of a mid-life update, the Toyota Corolla's entry-level 1.8-litre engine gained a healthy lift in power to 138bhp. With a 0-62mph time of 9.1 seconds, it's quicker than the cheapest 114bhp 1.5-litre VW Golf (9.9 seconds), and while it's half a second slower than the more powerful 1.0 Ecoboost 155 Ford Focus, that's not really a problem. Why? Well, the 1.8 Corolla has more than enough performance for everyday driving and gets up to motorway speeds without you needing to mash the accelerator into the carpet. Indeed, the only time you might wish for a little more oomph is when you need to overtake a dawdling motorist and you've got a car packed to the rafters with people and luggage.

For those situations, the brawnier 193bhp 2.0-litre has you covered, dropping the 0-62mph sprint time to 7.4 seconds – faster than any Honda

Even against the very comfy Focus, the Corolla's softer suspension means that it smoothes off the rough edges of road ridges better and fidgets less on patchy sections of motorway.

When you're driving normally, you'll find that the Corolla is a fine-handling car. The steering is precise and its weight builds in a progressive manner, starting light for city driving and ending up with a reassuring heft. There's a reasonable amount of feedback streaming to your fingertips.

There's also a decent feeling of composure at faster speeds.

Interior

The driver's seat in the Toyota Corolla places you higher up than in a Seat Leon, and offers a decent amount of support and a reasonably generous range of movement – including height and powered lumbar adjustment on all trims. You shouldn't have any problems getting comfy. What's more, while the front seats in many family cars have a wheel that allows you to fine-tune the angle of the backrest, the Corolla has a lever that offers a limited number of angles.

Civic except the Type R. Even when your foot isn't flat to the floor, the increased power from the Corolla's electric motor makes it satisfyingly snappier to your demands in normal driving.

Infotainment

The Corolla's 10.5in infotainment touchscreen is positioned high on the dashboard, making it easy to see and reach, and responds relatively quickly when you tap around the menus.

All Corollas come with Android Auto and Apple CarPlay smartphone mirroring so you can bypass the Toyota software for a better experience. You also get DAB radio and Bluetooth, while the standard six-speaker stereo is clear and punchy.

Space and storage

You won't struggle to fit in the front of the Toyota Corolla, even if you're really tall. The front seats slide back a long way, and although some family cars have a bit more head room, you're unlikely to feel hemmed in. The Corolla is also broad enough inside to keep some space between you and your passenger.

What about storage? Well, the door pockets are on the small side, but you'll find plenty of room elsewhere, thanks to a generous glovebox and enough trays and cubbies dotted about. You also get two cupholders in the centre console.

Visibility, parking sensors and cameras

The Corolla's skinny windscreen pillars mean you have a good view of the road ahead and out of the side windows at junctions.

The view out of the back is more restricted by chunky rear pillars, but every Corolla has a rear-view camera, and front and rear parking sensors to help you when you're reversing.

Powerful LED headlights are fitted as standard. In some rivals, you have to pay extra or upgrade to a posh trim level to get these.

Quality

When you get behind the wheel of a Corolla you might initially feel a bit underwhelmed. The design is restrained, conventional and [dare we say it) even slightly old-fashioned.

Fortunately, when you start touching things you realise Toyota has used high-quality materials that are screwed together in a way that puts most family cars to shame.

Costs, insurance groups, MPG and CO2

The Toyota Corolla makes plenty of sense as a private buy. It has a higher list price than some family cars but it's also predicted to have better resale values. Like for like, the Honda Civic costs significantly more.

The Corolla also makes sense as a company car because the 1.8-litre model officially emits as little as 100g/km of CO2, keeping BIK tax bills down. For even cheaper tax bills, you'll want to look at a plug-in hybrid or, better still, an electric car.

You can't argue with the 1.8 Corolla's fuel economy either. Real MPG testing saw a combined figure of 50.5mpg, and previous testing suggests that's easily achievable in the real world.

Efficiency is particularly impressive around town, so if that's where you spend most of your time, you might get even more miles to the gallon.

PHONE TECH

LEICA LEITZPHONE £1699

This isn't the first Leitzphone: its essentially an even more premium version of the Xiaomi 17 Ultra, which was already at the leading edge of cameraphone hardware. The oversized 1" main sensor has been carried over unchanged, as have the 50MP ultrawide and the 200MP telephoto. A clever variable zoom lens lets the latter do a job that took two separate sensors on the Xiaomi 15 Ultra.

This would mean nothing if the photos weren't up to snuff, but the image quality is outstanding in every kind of light, with great exposure, colour and contrast consistency, with the leica filters giving major impact.

NUBIA Z80 ULTRA from £579

The latest in a line of dark horses attempting to tempt you away from more well-known names has everything you'd expect: the latest Qualcomm silicon, a substantial screen, an equally big battery and a very keen price.

With a frosted glass back panel that curves inward towards a central frame that's subtly rounded, it makes the Z80 Ultra very comfortable to hold. Build quality is on a par with pricier models. The rear camera teams a 35mm lead lens with a high pixel count and periscope zoom, while the front cam leaves content free to fill the whole 6.5" screen, which has a crisp 2688 x 1216 resolution.

Its Nebula AIOS skin is also largely free of AI, with only the essential apps pre-loaded.

SAMSUNG GALAXY S26 from £879

This is still going to be the compact Android of choice for most people, with a gorgeous screen and a rear camera trio that's more than capable. Ultra-skinny bezels around the display, fingerprint-resistant rear glass and a flat aluminium midframe make it feel every bit the high-end phone.

The 6.3" AMOLED panel has grown a sliver from last year, and although resolution hasn't taken a great leap, you're still getting gloriously colourful, smooth-scrolling visuals in a tidy form factor.

The Exynos 2600 CPU comes paired with 12GB of RAM, and if you've used any Samsung phone in the last few years you'll be right at home with the feature-packed interface, which has a wide selection of own-brand apps to keep you entertained.
