Best Christmas Markets 2026

THE UK's best Christmas markets for 2026 feature a mix of massive city-wide festive trails, authentic continental villages and charming historic settings.

Here are our recommendations for this year's best Christmas markets...

Manchester

- Dates: 6 November – 22 December 2026. (Select attractions like Albert Square and Cathedral Gardens remain open until 3 January 2027).
- The Vibe: Spanning nine zones with over 200 wooden chalets, it is the UK's top-rated market for its incredible scale and city-wide trail.
- Insider tip: Don't miss grabbing a hot drink in the famous collectible mugs, and explore Exchange Square or King Street for the best artisan food stalls.

Edinburgh

- Dates: 14 November 2026 – 3 January 2027.
- The Vibe: Set in East Princes Street Gardens against the dramatic backdrop of Edinburgh Castle, this market offers unmatched festive views.
- Insider tip: Take a ride on the LNER Big Wheel (standing 46m tall) for incredible nighttime photos of the glowing historic skyline.

Birmingham Frankfurt Market

- Dates: 5 November – 24 December 2026.
- The Vibe: The largest authentic German market outside of Germany and Austria, known for transforming Victoria Square into a bustling alpine village.
- Insider tip: This is the ultimate spot for foodies. Skip a heavy lunch beforehand so you can indulge in giant bratwursts, warm pretzels, glühwein and a visit with Chris Moose, the singing Christmas moose.

Bath

- Dates: 26 November – 13 December 2026.
- The Vibe: A strictly boutique and artisan experience framing the stunning, illuminated Bath Abbey.
- Insider tip: Because this market runs for a shorter duration, weekends get exceptionally busy. Plan a Tuesday or Wednesday morning visit to browse the premium designer stalls in peace.

York St Nicholas Fair

- Dates: 12 November – 21 December 2026.
- The Vibe: Medieval charm at its finest along Parliament Street and St Sampson's Square, boasting roughly 75 alpine chalets.
- Insider tip: Pair your market shopping with a stroll down The Shambles to see the festive window displays, making it a perfect winter city break.

Hyde Park Winter Wonderland

- Dates: 14 November 2026 – 3 January 2027.
- The Vibe: Less of a traditional quiet market and more of an all-out festive extravaganza, featuring over 100 wooden cabins alongside massive attractions.
- Insider tip: You must pre-book your entry tickets online. It features the UK's largest outdoor ice rink and a giant observation wheel.

Chester

- Dates: 18 November – 22 December 2026.
- The Vibe: A handmade, historical, magical experience awaits you with 80 traders situated in the square around the town hall.
- Insider tip: Chester operates several Park and Ride schemes, with buses running throughout the day in circular routes around town. If you are not driving, the closest train station is Chester Railway Station, which is about a 20-minute walk to the Christmas Market.

Top tips:

If you are trying to decide which ones to bundle together, use the UK's rail network to combine markets seamlessly. For example, you can easily pair London, Bath, and York, or map out a northern route spanning York and Edinburgh over a 5-to-7 day holiday.

To get the absolute most out of your visits, try to go during weekdays in late November. Hotel prices are generally lower, crowds are manageable, and the stalls are fully stocked.

RKID Bring Oasis to North Wales

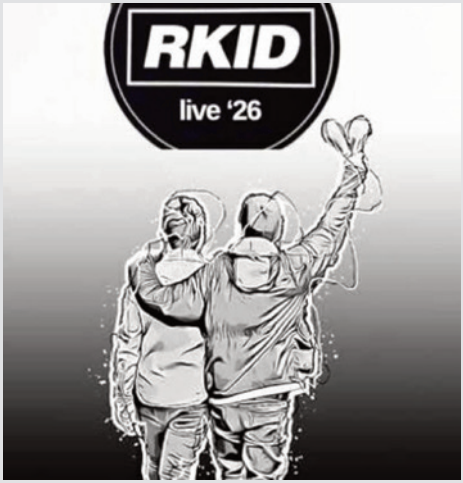

From the Mold Food Festival to Wrexham's new Supersonic Bar, RKID are proving there is still a huge appetite for Oasis.

There's something about an Oasis song that gets people singing, and RKID have been making the most of it.

The local Oasis tribute band have been busy on the live music scene, recently appearing at the Mold Food Festival before heading over to Supersonic Bar in Wrexham, the new venue attracting music fans in the area.

For anyone who grew up with Oasis, the set needs little introduction. Wonderwall, Don't Look Back in Anger, Some Might Say, Supersonic and Rock 'n' Roll Star are just some of the songs that have become part of the soundtrack of a generation.

At their shows, it's not just about watching a band on stage. The crowd becomes part of the performance, with plenty of singing along and the sort of atmosphere you would expect when a room full of Oasis fans get together.

Their appearance at the Mold Food Festival gave festival-goers the chance to enjoy the band's take on the Manchester legends, while their shows at Supersonic are giving Wrexham another live music attraction.

With Oasis themselves back in the spotlight, it seems the demand for the band's music hasn't gone away — and RKID are certainly doing their bit to keep the songs alive locally.

If you see RKID advertised for a venue near you, expect a few familiar songs, plenty of singing and a good excuse to dig out that old Oasis T-shirt!

How to clean garden furniture

THIS month we show you how to clean metal garden furniture...

Although it's fairly durable, metal furniture still contends with changing weather patterns and summer-long use. That's why it's important to know how to clean it.

How to clean metal garden furniture

1. Brush off debris

For general furniture maintenance, remove any cushions and brush away loose debris such as leaves, bird droppings or food, using a soft-bristled brush.

2. Clean with warm, soapy water

With the larger, loose debris removed, you can then work on getting into the nooks and crannies of your metal garden furniture. These small spaces are often filled with dried-on stains, leftover crumbs, and even cobwebs. Use a cloth and warm, soapy water, then dry with a soft, non-scratch cloth.

3. Tackle any rust

Purchase a brittle wire brush and gently scrape away any lumpy rusty patches using circular motions, making sure to wipe clean afterwards,' suggests Martin. 'Once the surface is dry, a small piece of sandpaper can even out the surfaces if needed.

Alternatively, you could use white vinegar to clean the rust off your metal garden furniture.

4. Rinse with fresh water

Once you've cleaned your metal garden furniture and removed any rust, you'll need to rinse the whole thing down. Leaving any residue from cleaning products on the metal can not only affect the integrity of the furniture but also result in further rusting and discolouration.

Don't use a power wash, as this can damage the vulnerable parts of the metal. Instead, the best way to do this is to either grab a bucket of cold water or use your garden hose to hose the whole thing down.

Ideally, you should then let it air dry, or use a clean cloth or chamois to dry it quickly.

5. Consider painting or sealing

Once dry, apply the relevant care and protection products to ensure your furniture is maintained properly.

You could opt for a sealant like Rust-Oleum Spray Crystal Clear Matt Protective Coat, or you could use a specialised protective paint like Polar Direct to Rust Satin Black Metal Spray Paint.

6. Protect with a furniture cover

While some metal garden furniture can live outside year-round without protection, it's better to be safe than sorry.

If the furniture is made of wrought iron, then it's especially important to store it in a dry and sheltered location, as this material is more susceptible to rust than other metals.

Furniture made from weather-resistant aluminium is more resistant to rust and corrosion, but storing it in a dry location will only help to enhance its lifespan.

A taste of Cheshire and North Wales this Christmas

The region's independent producers: From craft drinks to handmade food, there's plenty to discover

GREAT food is being made right here on our doorstep.

You don't have to travel far to find some really good food.

Around Chester, Malpas and into North Wales, there are plenty of independent producers making everything from traditional cheese to bread, preserves and other local produce.

Cheesemaking in Malpas

Malpas is home to two producers with very different cheesemaking stories.

Bourne's Cheshire Cheese has been a family cheesemaking business since 1750 and is based at The Bank Farm in Malpas. The family still uses traditional methods to make its Cheshire cheese, using milk from its own herd.

Larkton Hall Cheese, also in Malpas, makes Italian-style Alpine cheeses on the farm. Its two main cheeses are Crabtree and Federia, made using milk from its own dairy herd and traditional copper vats.

Local fact: Larkton Hall has around 320 mostly Holstein Friesian cows, with the herd providing the milk used for its handmade cheeses.

Hawarden Estate Farm Shop

Just across the border, Hawarden Estate Farm Shop offers a wide range of local and artisan produce alongside its own bakery, café and estate-grown produce.

It's a great place to find something different and support smaller food producers at the same time.

From food to drink

There's plenty happening across the border.

The local food scene doesn't stop at cheese and farm shops.

There are independent bakers, producers, breweries and distilleries across the Chester and North Wales area, with many small businesses concentrating on quality rather than mass production.

Craft spirits in Wrexham

Wrexham and the surrounding area have developed a growing independent drinks scene.

Local distillers are producing spirits in small batches and creating their own products rather than simply following the big brands.

It's another example of the variety of independent businesses operating across the region.

More than just shopping

One of the best things about buying from a local producer is knowing where your food comes from.

Whether it's a piece of Cheshire cheese from Malpas, something from a local farm shop or a bottle produced by an independent drinks company, there is usually a story behind it.

And when you buy directly from a small business, you're supporting the people who actually make the product.

Shop local • Eat local • Drink local

There is a fantastic range of food and drink being produced around Chester and North Wales.

So next time you're shopping, why not look a little closer to home?

You don't have to go far to find something good.

Local producers to look out for

Cariad Gin - Gin Distilery in Holywell

Facer's Brewery, Flint

At Facer's Brewery, they don't just brew beer.

Since opening their doors in 2003, they've been dedicated to putting their minds and hearts into the process, using the finest ingredients and employing state of the art techniques.

TRY SOMETHING LOCAL

Next time you're buying food for the weekend, putting together a cheeseboard or looking for a gift, have a look at what's being made locally.

You might find your new favourite product just a few miles from home.
